

Chase the Dragon's Tail Game

This time-honored Chinese game is played by at least 10 kids.

Optional supplies:

Long colorful streamers or ribbons to tie around the children's head and wrists to look like the dragon's wings and fire.

One child is the “head” of the dragon and wears colorful streamers wrapped around their head and arms.

The other children line up behind him with their hands on the shoulders of the person in front of them.

The head has one minute to tag the last child in the line WITHOUT causing the line to break apart. If he succeeds, he wins; if not, then the child that was the “head” becomes the “tail”, and the child that was next in the line becomes the “head”.
